Procurement Policy Overview

The government of Ontario has two key procurement directives: one for the Ontario Public Service (OPS) and one for the Broader Public Sector (BPS)

The Directives are designed to support procurement processes in the OPS and BPS that are open, transparent and fair as well as achieve value for money

The OPS Procurement Directive applies to goods, services, information technology and consulting services and to all ministries, IT clusters and certain agencies

Procurement Policy Overview (2)

Both Directives reflect Ontario's trade agreement obligations covering procurement:

- The Agreement on Internal Trade
- The Ontario – Quebec Trade and Cooperation Agreement
- The World Trade Organization Agreement on Government Procurement

Procurement Policy Overview (3)

Competitive procurement processes must be fair, transparent, open, and advertised publicly using an electronic tendering service to solicit bids for procurement contracts valued at:

- $25,000 or more for goods acquisitions; and,
- $100,000 or more for services and construction acquisitions

Procurements below these thresholds do not have to be advertised using an electronic tendering service

For consulting services, a competitive procurement process must be used for all consulting procurement contracts, regardless of value

The Daily Commercial News and the Ministry of Transportation Registry, Appraisal and Qualification System (RAQS) may be used to advertise construction acquisitions

Where do I find Procurement Opportunities?

On the ONTARIO TENDERS PORTAL

In 2014, BravoSolution became Ontario's new designated electronic tendering service provider replacing MERX Networks

- Services include access to Ontario government open procurement opportunities such as Requests for Bids for goods or services
- Electronic submission of bids is being implemented
- Vendors will no longer be required to purchase a subscription to access and review procurement documents. Vendors can read all our procurement documents free of charge, prior to deciding whether or not to bid.
- The new electronic tendering service is available at ontario.ca/tenders

Procurement Documents

The most common procurement documents issued by Ontario are:

- Request for Bids (RFB)
- Request for Qualifications (RFQ)
- Request for Services (RFS) issued under a Vendor of Record Arrangement (VOR)

Vendor of Record (VOR) Arrangements

One or more qualified vendors are authorized to provide goods/services for a defined time period on defined terms and conditions, including pricing, as set out in the VOR agreement

Arrangements are established to reduce procurement costs, administrative redundancy and overhead when there is a need for the same goods/services

Arrangements may be used by the entire government, multi-ministries or a single ministry (VOR arrangements typically run 3 to 4 years in duration)

Use of arrangements is mandatory for the OPS and optional for approved Provincially Funded Organizations (PFO)

Contractor Security Screening

Vendors doing business with the Ontario Government may be required to obtain security screening checks and receive security clearance before contracts can be awarded and work undertaken

Vendors will be advised in the procurement document if security screening is a requirement for a specific assignment

Questions about the security screening component of the procurement process can be directed to the designated procurement contact

Tax Compliance

To do business with Ontario, a vendor must be in compliance with their provincial tax obligations

The procurement documents will include the Tax Compliance Declaration Form, that gives the ministry the right to confirm your tax status with the Ministry of Finance (MOF)

The Ministry of Finance will advise the procuring ministry whether the tax compliance verification was successful

You will be asked to address the matter, if the Ministry of Finance indicates that the tax compliance verification was not successful

The contract will not be awarded until Ontario tax obligations are met

Procurement Process

Typical procurement process includes:

- Consultation
- Issue Request for Bids
- Question and answer period
- Bid submission
- Bid closing
- Bid evaluation
- Conditional selection
- Award
- Debriefing

Questions & Answers

Review the procurement documents carefully. There are usually one or more opportunities to seek clarification of information presented in the procurement document

- There will be a designated person to address questions within a period of time specified in the procurement documents
- There may be a vendor meeting where a presentation and question and answer period will also occur. For some procurements, there may be a site tour
- All questions and answers are issued as addenda (modifications in eRFB) to the procurement documents and are available to all vendors who accessed the original documents

Tip: Do not contact anyone other than the designated procurement contact as this could jeopardize the procurement process

Bid Evaluation

The procurement documents will describe what is required and how your response will be evaluated. Evaluation can include mandatory eligibility requirements, rated requirements and pricing requirements

The vendor with the highest ranked response considering all the evaluation requirements will be successful

Tip: Be clear in your responses. We cannot evaluate what is not submitted in your responses even if you have done business with a ministry in the past

Award

The successful vendor will be notified following the evaluation and will be asked to satisfy any outstanding requirements of the procurement (e.g. proof of insurance). The ministry will then enter into an agreement with the vendor

Once the agreement is signed by the ministry, all vendors who submitted bids will be notified of the contract award and offered a debriefing

Contract award notifications will also be published in the same manner the procurement was originally posted

Vendors are entitled to know why their bid was not successful. Vendors who participate in procurements valued at $25,000 or more are offered an opportunity for a debriefing

Debriefings are valuable to vendors because they provide vendors the opportunity to learn the strengths and weaknesses of their bid responses. The objective of a debriefing is to help vendors learn how to submit more competitive bids in the future

How to Prepare a Bid Response

Timetable

Carefully review the procurement document and take note of all important dates including:

- Vendor Meetings or Site Tours
- Deadline for Questions
- Deadline for Publication of Addenda
- Closing Date, Time and Location

Tips for Writing Effective Proposals

Review opportunities - decide to bid or not to bid

Conduct preliminary assessment

- Is my company capable of offering the goods/services requested?
- Does my company meet the evaluation criteria?
- Does my company accept all the terms and conditions?
- Does my company accept the basis of payment or pricing methods?
- Is my company capable of winning the contract against the competition?

Requirements

Pricing

- The procurement document will tell you:
 - what costs should be included in your response (e.g. delivery, travel, maintenance)
 - how to present these costs (e.g. per unit, total cost) in your response

Form of Agreement

The Procurement Document will include a Form of Agreement (or Contract) that you will be required to sign

The Form of Agreement is a legal agreement that will also be signed by the ministry if you are successful

Unless indicated in the procurement document, the Form of Agreement cannot be amended

Marketing to the Ontario Government

Take Advantage of Public Information

Information about the government's mandate, programs, priorities, and budget cycle are available through documents like the budget, Throne Speech, ministry business plans, and press releases – all of which can be found on the government's website

The more you learn about our priorities, challenges and needs, the better you will be able to position your organization to do business with the government

This information will also help you to determine who is most likely to be in the market for your goods or services. You can then use the Ontario government directory: <http://www.infogo.gov.on.ca>
